Now, I have a reason for speaking the way I am speaking tonight. I will tell you what it is. I could claim credit for all this for the Democratic party, but your platform does that, and you know that it was the Democrats that fought for all this.

What I am trying to establish tonight is that if the Republican party as reported in the senate and assembly had their way about it you would not have a single one of these governmental reforms.

Do you know what the cry down had their have a single one of these have a single one of the peach there was? "Wait another year, the fellow on the second floor will be out of here next year, wait. (Laughter and applause.) Let us go along another year and take a chance; he can not come back."

Fooled Republicans, He Says.

Fooled Republicans, He Says.

Fooled Republicans, The Says.

Fooled Republicans, He Says.

But the people of the State of New York kind of fooled our Republican friends (laughter) and kept sending me back, and the result is that all these reforms came by what we may call easy stages.

If you will look at the year in which they passed you will find it was always an even numbered year, because that was the year they were going out to the people; that was the year they wanted to make the record as clean as they were able to make it; not so very clean, but as clean as they were able to make it (laughter and applause).

It is a matter of fact that the Re-clean, but as clean as they were able to make it (laughter and applause).

It is a matter of fact that the Republican forces in the State, through their organization in the various counties, fought at the polls the executive budget, and Senator Knight, the president pro tem of the senate, even spoke against it in the campaign.

Now, do not let the so-called hightoned Republicans tell you that they have no responsibility for these leaders in Albany. There is no way of ever fixing the responsibility unless you fix it upon the elected officials that carry out what they believe to be the party policy.

Take the executive budget. Everybody in this State who knows anything at all about it knows that the executive budget is probably the most advanced step in the reform of Governmental machinery that we have seen during our generation.

Claims Democrats Brought Reform.

What is the history with respect to that? Mr. Machold, as speaker of the urged against it. With a stubbornness almost unbelievable they stood for six solid years against it.

subject of the State's finances. I am going to dispose of the argument of the Republican committee by their own platform. I am not going to say a word about it. I am going to put the platform in evidence and let the platform say it. Here is the way it works. Leaves Topeka for Chicago to Take Orders for More Stumping.

HOPES HE WILL GET REST

En route with Senator Curtis to Chicago, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Somewhat rested Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, was on his way to party headquarters in Chicago tonight prepared to take orders "like s good soldier" for his part in the finish of the campaign.

Despite two days of complete relaxation at Topeka, Curtis said tonight he was still "very tired." He knows the national committee has outlined a very comprehensive speaking program for him in the Northwest and East for the next three weeks and he is ready to go shead on it, but he frankly said he hoped his voice might be given a rest for a week or ten days.

The senator still carried his right hand in a sling as he said good-by to friends upon his departure from Topeka early in the evening. However, an X-ray of the finger which was mashed in an automobile door last week showed that no bones were broken and he expects to be freed of the sling soon. Meanwhile, he is shaking hands with the left hand.

The nominee plans to spend the remainder of the week in Chicago, where is to speak tomorrow hight he also ferences in Chicago tomorrow and Wednesday.

Elated over his reception on the Western tour, which carried him into thirteen States in fifteen days, Curtis has declared this area "safe." He will now place himself in the hands of the speakers' bureau, with criders to "use me where I can do the most good," but with the suggestion that a rest at this time might rid him of the noarseness with which he has been bothered for the last week.

Today at Topeka he went to the office of a friend, Clyde W. Miller, and spent the morning receiving friends who called in a steady line After a visit with the doctor he spent the afternoon resting. He was on his way to Chicago before dinner time tonight.

system of dealing with parks. They were spread out all over the State under commissioners here and under trustees there and everybody in the legislature scrambled around trying to the best they could to get appropriations for their particular park. In 1923 at my suggestion we set up a State council of parks to supervise appropriations and repair and maintee mance work throughout the whole system. In 1924 there was submitted to fit the people a referendum for $15,000.000 for parks and parkways. In 1925 there was appropriated each year $1,000,000 for the purchase of parkways direct from current revenue. The $15,000,000 was a bond issue.

Everything went along swimmingly. You never heard anything from the county, there was nothing up in Erie, or up at Niagara Falls, nor in the Adirondacks, nor in the Catskill preserves. Everything was going along nicely—until when? Until the Long Island Park Commission went down and put its eye on a piece of property that could be purchased for $250,000. Called the Taylor estate.

Nobody knew that property could be bought for that price until I went to buy it, and just as soon as they did a group of young, selfish millionaries made up their minds to get it, and they talked the owners out of selling it to the State and said they would give $250,000 for it.

And down at the county fair in Duckess County, in the City of Pough-keepsie, I signed the paper in the month of September. Then there began litigation, fought all the way to the court of appeals. The Republican chairman of the county committee of Suffolk County made up his mind that he would defeat the State. SEARCH FOR CARNES' MONEY IS EXTENDED Baptist Officials Will Visit Chicago, Milwaukee and Starlake, Wis.

$2,000 FOUND IN CANADA

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Search for part of the money which Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the Southern Baptist home mission board, is alleged to have taken from funds of the board, will be made in Chicago. Milwaukee and around Starlake, Wis., Thomas Howell Scott, one of the receivers for Carnes' holdings, announced today. Auditors who have checked the books of the former treasurer and officials of the home mission board have declared that his accounts were approximately $1,000,000 short when he disappeared from Atlanta August 15. He was arrested in Winnipeg, Canada, Fridey.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 1 (U.P.) .was told today of the heroism of an engineer who by sheer grit triumphed over intense physical distress long enough to insure the safety of his passengers arriving here late yosterday aboard the Creacent Limited.

It was while piloting the Southern Railway's fast train yesterday morning between Monroe. Va. and Salisbury. N. C., his regular run, that Engineer Joe M. Stedman suffered an acute attack of indigestion as he sat at the throttle a few miles out of Danville. Va He felt insensibility rapidly closing over him from the stabbing pains in his stomach. Then he thought of the trainload of passengers and by a superhuman effort of will managed to apply the brakes. The train rolled to a steady stop just as he collapsed on the floor of his cab.

Is a religious issue or religious "crisis" in the present national campaign, and am glad to indorse Mr. Hoover's vigorous repudiation of any such issue as against Gov. Smith. Mr. Hoover and Chairman Work have repeatedly discountenanced such attacks upon Gov. A new 5 hour train to New York

N addition to the splendid train service already provided by this railroad between Washington and New York, the Pennsylvania Railroad has put into operation, commencing September 30th, a new fast train.

After a full morning for business or other engagements in Washington, you take this new Pennsylvania train at 12 noon, lunch comfortably in the dining car, read or lounge through the afternoon in the comfortable day-coaches or parlor cars and arrive at New York at 4:55 P.M. in ample time to go to a hotel and prepare for dinner and evening engagements.

You have the choice of alighting in New York either at the Hudson Terminal on Church Street, in the center of the downtown financial and business section, or at the Pennsylvania Station, on 7th Avenue at 32nd Street, in the uptown hotel and theatre district.

THIS new fast train makes the twentieth of the fleet of Pennsylvania trains operating each week-day from Washington to New York. From Washington to Baltimore the Pennsylvania operates 40 trains each week-day; to Philadelphia 27 trains; to Chicago 7. These Pennsylvania trains are like a giant shuttle, weaving ceaselessly and unfailingly back and forth between the nation's capital and the leading cities of the north

NEW YORK'S STATE TICKET.

The Republicans of New York have named Albert Ottinger as their candidate for governor and Alanson B. Houghton as their candidate for the United States Scuate. In selecting these candidates the Republicans of New York State place themselves in the best possible position for victory next month. The State ticket helps the Republican national ticket and puts Gov. Smith and his supporters on their mettle in his battle for New York.

Mr. Ottinger is attorney general of New York, elected when Alfred E. Smith was last elected governor. The attorney general has made an admirable record in vitalizing law enforcement throughout the State. His thoroughgoing and nonpartisan labors have won praise from Democrats as well as from Republicans, and no one questions his suitability for the governorship.

Mr. Houghton's accomplishments as a lawmaker and diplomat are such as to make him especially well qualified for valuable service in the Senate. New York would regain much of its prestige and influence in national councils If the present Ambassador to Great Britain should become one of its senators. He would contribute to the Senate a fullness of information and a breadth of judgment that are badly needed.

The Democratic State ticket is yet to be formed. Gov. Smith's personal preferences are expected to have great weight in the naming of candidates for governor and senator. It is proper that the Rochester delegates should elect a ticket calculated to strengthen Gov. Smith's own candidacy. In view of the selections made by the Republicans, it is taken for granted that Gov. Smith will single out the strongest Democrats in the State to make the

The air mail has played an important part

THE FIRST PLANE IN THE WORLD.

In an attempt to patch up the controversy that led Orville Wright to consign to a British museum the historic airplane in which he, with his brother Wilbur, first achieved human flight, the Smithsonian Institution has pubshed a comprehensive tract entitled "The Relations Between the Smithsonian Institution and the Wright Brothers." The pamphlet stands as tangible admission that the Smithsonian was wrong throughout the incident. It expresses regret that any loose or unwarranted statements should have been made by the institution which might be interpreted to the disadvantage of the Wrights, and that it should have contributed to the impression that the success of the Wright brothers was due to anything but their own research, genius, sacrifice and perserverance. The pamphlet admits further that the experiments of 1914, in which the Langley airdrome, rebuilt and powered with another engine, was successfully flown, should not have been conducted under the cirumstances and should not have been officially described in a way to give offense to Mr.

The Langley airdrome was an interesting ecursor of the plane that first carried human ings in the air. The latter, one of the most tious historical relics in the possession of ankind, belongs in the National Museum. nericans insist that it shall be kept forever

Orville Wright says that the Smithsonian ent is not enough-that "an investigaon by disinterested parties will be necessary. a friendly conference in April, says Mr. ight, he insisted upon a correction of the alse impression in the public mind which had been created by the institution. The statement, he says, does not make this correction. But no "correction" is needed to establish the fact that the Wright airplane was the first to accomplish successful flight. That great fact does not depend upon the say-so of the Smithsonian Institution Throughout the controversy Mr. Wright has had the public on his side. The Smithsonian. by publication of the pamphlet, now admits that it has been wrong. The offending label on the Langley machine has been changed to read simply: "The original Samuel Pierpont Langley flying machine of 1903, restored. Deposited by the Smithsonian Institution." The title of the Wrights as originators of aviation is established beyond the power of any man or institution to disturb. Mr. Wright should let bygones be bygones and place his first airplane in the custody of the United

RAILROAD LABOR ADJUSTMENT.

The President, under warrant of the railway labor law, has appointed a board of five persons to settle the dispute between the Western roads and the two great railroad labor organizations-conductors and trainmen. These railroad unions rank among the most high-minded in the field of labor organizations. The caliber of the men who compose the board as announced leaves no doubt as to their acceptability to all the parties in the dispute.

The matters at issue between the railroad workers and the companies are of a nature to which the counsels of conciliation may be well applied. The necessity for appointing a board arose through a situation which, if continued, threatened to interfere with the transportation service in the areas affected, and was in the interest of the protection of the free action of interstate commerce.

The appointment of the board is in no sense an indication that extreme measures are required. These men, who are in no way interested in railroads, will bring to bear outside and impartial reasoning, and the parties to the controversy will accept their judgment. The findings of the board, reported to the President within 30 days, will be accepted as the basis for settlement. The right to strike is a last resort, but the road to reason is pointed to by law as the one to be followed,

The practice of arbitration, either through the initiative of the parties to labor disputes or by the provisions of law, has become so general in the treatment of labor causes that the voices which formerly were raised in strike counsels are now united very generally for conciliation. Such agencies, in the case of the railroad workers particularly, are fully adequate for all needs, and ordinarily command the respect and confidence of all parties to the IRISH FREE STATE CENSUS.

The second report of the Irish Free State government on the census of 1926 takes the form of an occupational census and, from its nature, is of general interest. The total population of the Free State area is given as 2,971, 992. Contrary to a widespread belief, the males outnumber the females, the figures for the former being 1,506,889 as against 1,465,-103 for the latter. The employed persons over the age of 12 years reach the high total of 1,307,662. The predominance of agriculture as a pursuit is shown by the fact that engaged in it are 672,129 men and women, a ratio of 514 per thousand as compared with a ratio of 89 per thousand in Scotland and of 73 per thousand in England and Wales. On the other hand, only 149 per thousand in the Free State are engaged in industrial pursuits outside agriculture, showing a marked contrast with 472 per thousand in Scotland and the 416 per thousand in England and Wales who are similarly engaged. The actual producers in the Free State, however, exhibit a total of 867,098, or 663 per thousand, as against 561 per thousand in Scotland and 511 per thousand in England and Wales. This particularly large proportion of producers in the Free State is due almost entirely to the great number of agricultural laborers who there find employment.

When the Shannon scheme, of which so much is expected and which is being now vigorously pushed on to completion, becomes operative, and electric power is made available State, it is believed that many nascent industries will spring up and, alded by a protective tariff, will flourish and provide gainful occupation to many thousands of those who now, in one way or other, look to the land as their sole means of support. The professional classes of the Free State, including nuns, Catholic priests and clergymen of other denominations; itinerant preachers, barristers, attorneys or solicitors, physteians and surgeons, dentists, veterinary surgeons, architects and teachers account for 42 per thousand of the population, compared with 40 per thousand in Scotland and 39 per thousand in England and Wales. Education seems to be well looked after, for the teachers of all ranks number 16,202, of whom 10,104 are women. Women, indeed, have found their way into many trades and professions. Not only are they domestic servants, shopkeepers, shop assistants, and civil servants, but some of them are ranked as cattle and sheep dealers, pig dealers, horse dealers, auctioneers and valuers, journalists and authors, physicians, veterinary surgeons, architects, and police.

The Free State army, which is somewhat of a bone of contention, employs 1,076 commissioned officers and 13,869 other ranks; and the officers and men of the Civic Guard num-

These various figures show much more than a new state in the making; they show it functioning in a normal and ordinary manner, and bidding high for a respected place among the nations of the earth. The recent issue of its own currency as legal tender and payable at par in London shows the Irish Free State as practically sovereign in its own domain.

AMERICAN INVESTMENTS ABROAD.

No longer does the capital of the American family lie idle. The stocking heel banks of half a century ago were replaced with the building and loan association and the savings bank when the United States finally learned that money stored up could be put to work. Bank deposits increase each year, indicating that the United States has become inherently thrifty, in addition to which the American family has become an important investor. The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. hasbeen built of the surplus funds of thousands of American homes; today the average American, in addition to his savings account, possesses a few shares of stock in representative corporations, or a municipal or corporate bond. Nor does American capital stay at home. The Department of Commerce divulges the fact that American investments in foreign corporate securities reached a grand total of more than $11,650,000,000 at the end of 1927. The American dollar, says the department, has found its way into the greatest of world enterprises, such as the chemical combine of Europe, the match monopoly of Sweden and the growing machinery industry of Europe, Canada and Australia. It has gone into "the building of better docks and harbors in Canada, Latin America and the Philippine Islands; into automobile, tobacco, fruit, rubber, cable, textile, lumber, hotel, realty, cement, amusement, grain elevator, trading and glass companies in various parts of the world; it has gone into foreign chain and department stores and even into churches and schools."

Before the war American capital rarely found its way into foreign fields. The war changed all this. Since 1914 hundreds of foreign stock and bond issues have been offered to the American investor of limited means, and they have been spread over the entire country. Today the United States holds $722,000,000 worth of European public utilities issues and $720,000,000 worth of railway securities. It holds $492,000,000 worth of the stocks and bonds of foreign banking and credit companies, and $374,000,000 worth of foreign sugar producers' and refiners' securities. The smallest aggregate American investment is in department stores, and it amounts to well over

Strange as it may seem, the typical Ameri can investor in foreign securities prefers bonds to common or preferred stock. Thus he does not obtain a direct voice in the management of foreign enterprise, although his investment places him in a position in which he must be considered by management. American investments abroad, therefore, have bearing upon the economic life of the Nation, particularly in view of the fact that it is recognized today that American business is inseparably bound to world business.

Eleven billion dollars in American capital, working for foreign business, under foreign management, testifies strikingly to the important role the United States plays in world business, as well as to the thriftiness of the individual investor.

SEAGRAVE'S PROJECTILE.

Maj. H. O. D. Seagrave is bringing to completion the contraption called "motor car," with which he hopes to recapture the world automobile speed record. Long, thin and cigar shaped, it resembles the fuselage of the seaplane in which Flight Lieut. Kinkead made his ill-fated attempt last year to capture the world air speed record. The car is 28 feet long, designed for a speed of at least 240 miles an hour, and with it Seagrave hopes to reach above 260 miles an hour.

During the speed trials last winter all contestants had difficulty in steering a straight course. The Seagrave torpedo has been designed particularly to obviate this fault. At its prow there will be mounted a sight, much like that of a rifle, through which the driver will aim toward a target. Bull's-eyes will be set at certain points along the course; Mai. Seagrave will look through a telescope mounted upon the body of the car, focusing upon the buil's-eyes, and thus he hopes to negotiate a mile faster than it ever has been done before on land.

.The elaborate preparations for steering the Seagrave car demonstrate the fruitlessness of the venture. What is to be gained by driving a so-called automobile 250 miles an hour or thereabouts, if it can be accomplished only with the aid of telescopes and targets? The American Automobile Association, whose officials must certify to speed records to make them official, should outlaw the Seagrave car It is no automobile, but rather a projectile, and the only certain thing about it is that it is dangerous to life.

ARMY CARNIVAL

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday the people of Washington will have an unparalleled opportunity to examine a cross section of the United States Army, its weapons, its equipment, and its employment for national defense. Under the sponsorship of the Army Relief Soclety, the annual military exposition and carnival, presented for the first time last year with signal success, will be repeated in the grounds of the Army War College. This year particular attention will be paid to the advance made in arms and equipment since the country first had an Army, and to the development of military science since the World War. The outstanding spectacle will be the reenactment of the fight of the "Lost Battalion," the handful of troops who, surrounded, suffering extreme hardship from hunger, fatigue, exposure and lack of medical attention, stood off the onslaught of superior numbers for five days and four nights.

The Army Relief Society cares for the dependents of officers and enlisted men who have died in the service of their country. While such dependents receive pensions, the allow ances, particularly to enlisted men, are pitifully small; and if it were not for the sympathetic ministering of the Relief Society, many would suffer. The society secures employment for widows and orphans, and provides funds for the education of the latter. Last year it disbursed more than $82,000, most of which was contributed by members of the military service out of their slender means.

The committee in charge promises an interesting and instructive demonstration. Washington should welcome the opportunity of supporting the military exposition and carnival, both to promote public interest in the United States Army and to aid the Army Relief Society in its work.

The Potter Can't Change Clay Into Gold, But He Can Make a Clay Vessel as Useful as a Gold One By ROBERT QUILLEN=

THE greatest problem of civilization is crime, and yet it remains a problem solely because of society's stupidity. It remains a probbecause society is a foolish potter, content to wait until the clay is hard before trying to shape the vessel. The solution of the problem is no more difficult than the training of a vine to screen a porch.

Bolled down, Mr. Harris' idea, and the dramaturgy that attends it, amounts to this: An ancient philanderer—who is Mr. Holmes, in the play—resolves to settle down and take unto himself a bride of lamb-like propensities; an innocent. He has, in his heyday, and hey-hey, been the consoler of neglected wives and grass widows. In the denauement, which is part and parcel of all great drama, it comes to pass that the 16-year-old girl who is to marry the 55-year-old gentleman. knows more about life, as it is lived in this city, thandoes the man himself. And how—it may as well here be asked—does the gentleman learn of this? Well—and this will give an insight into the maner and kind of this drama—it is brought out in a teteatate. There are all sorts of these chats—little confessionals—in which innermost secrets and soul-hidden complexes are bared. They make "The Great Necker" with the complexion of the English comedians, and Tom's wife, Alice Lloyd; the entire "Girl from to the footlights and delve into each other's heart possessions. while "The Great Necker" is not much of a play, it is entertainment—and that, undoubtedly, is all it purports to be. In the portrayal of the career of this man who proved to be not the great necker—the little girl coming in for that honor—Mr. Holmes has the able support of at least three persons capable of frolicing along with him—Miss Marjorie Gateson, James B. THE early Pilgrims were the first discoverers of the American cranberry. On the low marshes near the shore, on the Cape Cod Peninsula in Massachusetts, they found the berries growing wild. The good house-wives picked and preserved them.

Today, the cranberry is put to a score of uses other than serving as a relish with Turkey. Yet for most of us, cranberries still

The accusation is based on an affi-

The accusation is based on an affidavit made by Nagle and used against the former princess in her $100,000 allenation of affections suit against her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Schroder, in New York City courts. Damages of $500 are asked in the complaint against Nagle.

Through her counsel, Mark Friedlander, the former princess charged that she was maliciously slandered in the Nagle affidavit, which described her alleged intimacies with a man at the Carry On Club. The former princess had been awarded a judgment of $100,000 against her sister, whom she charged with allenating the affections of Prince Nicholas Vladimir von der Lippe-Lipski, but Mrs. Schroder succeeded in having the case reopened and introduced the Nagle affidavit with others to support her contention that the princess had forfeited the affections of the prince through familiarities with other men. Nagle was represented by Edward L. Marthill and John J. McGinnis, attorneys. It is probable that the case will not be tried for a month.

Wives of Tomorrow By FRANCES McDONALD=

EAR MISS McDONALD: 1 am a readeer of your paper and have been for a long time. I read one of your articles in which you say that any girl can forget a man in three weeks providing she has a sufficiently exciting time during those weeks, and that enybody can "forget" if he wants to.

that anybody can "forget" if he wants to.

Well, the girls forget me, all right! That's why I am single! To start with, I am a man without any bad habits at all. I do not smoke, drink or swear, and I am beginning to think that that is my trouble. I think girls do not like good men. When I was about 19, there was a girl that I admired very much. We moved away to another town, but I remembered this girl.

After about three years I returned and asked her to marry me. She said, "Let us wait awhile." So I did. In the meanwhile I went to see her every Saturday night and stayed over Sunday. About two years later I had about 36,000 or $7,000, so I asked her again, but she still wanted me to wait. In the meantime she had met a man from the West. In a month's time they ran off and got married. They lived together for three years and then he left her.

In a year she sent for me, but how could I trust her? Besides, after two years I had met annother girl. We were about to get married when her mother told us to wait. Her uncle took her sway for six months. When she came home she did not treat me the same if was not long till a rian appeared whom she had met while at her uncle took her sway for six months. away for six months. When she came home she did not treat me the same. It was not long till a man appeared whom she had met while at her uncle's. So I saw I was not wanted and it called on her one night and told her if she liked this man better than she did me she should return my ring, which she did! This man stayed about two months and left her fat. About two months alter she sent me a letter to come to see her, which I did. She also tried to get me to come back, but it did not work, for I had heard too many things about her.

Now I am going with a girl that I just met last September. She is very nice to me, but does not want to get married for at least one year! So I do not know what to do but wait.

They say everything comes to those who wait if you wait long enough I have a good job and make between 4,000 and $5,000 a year. I am happy all the time and go to church every sunday. So I do not know what is you wait long enough I have lots of friends and am well liked. But the girls just will not say "yes" to me, and when it comes to forgetting they can "forget" the best I ever saw! So, as I say, Miss McDonald, you sure are right about your sex being first-class little forgetters!

(From the N. Y. Tab, June 27.) DIXIE DUGAN DISAPPEARS. Beautiful Night Club Dancer and Stage Star Kidnapped or Murdered?

Last night the orchestra played the overture for Dixie Dugan at the State Theater, Newark, and the curtain went Theater, Newark, and the curtain went up on an empty stage. The audience waited expectantly for Dixie to trip out. They waited and waited. No Dixie. The orchestra played the introductory music again. A wave of chill apprehension spread over the house. What could have happened? The curtain came down once more and an agitated stage manager hurried out and with profuse apologies to the audience explained that Miss Dugan was ill and could not appear, but the show would go on. The show did go on—as usual—with lights and laughter out front. But back stage was pandemonium. Dixie Dugan was not ill. She had disappeared.

Dugan was not ill. She had disappeared.

Careful search of her dressing room gave no clues. All her street clothes were there. Her maid could give no explanation. "Miss Dugan came back here for a cigarette, just after her call." said the maid. "She was in her opening costume and made up to go on. I gave her a cigarette and she went right out of that door. I haven't seen her since." The maid wept. But tears will not bring her back. Neither did any of the stage hands see her. Nor the doorman, nor any one out in the street or in the vicinity, so far as the police could learn.

vicinity, so far as the police could learn.

All sorts of dark and ugly rumors are afloat. As every one knows Dixie Dugan is the central figure in the stabbing affray in which "Jack" Milton, millionaire broker and influential man-about-town, nearly lost his life a few weeks ago in a wild early morning party in his luxurious apartments. It is said Dixie knows too much about the night lives of our leading citizens. Rumor also connects the arrival in this country a few days ago of Senor Fillippo Romano, former presidente of the Republic of Costaragua, the father of Alvarez Romano, night club tango dancer, who stabbed "Jack" Milton and who until a few days ago was held in the Tombs. It is now learned that he was released a couple of days ago on ball, but his attorneys are keeping him incommunicado.

On the other hand, it is rumored in

HAVE been invited to a tea," writes Appreciative, "to be given in the near future at one of the hotels in honor of a recently bethrothed young lady whom I have never met. Since the hostess is the only person whom I shall know, will you kindly answer a few questions?

What time shall I arrive and when should I remove my gloves, upon entering the hotel tobby or when served with teat? You know, Miss Singleton, any suggestion you have to offer will be greatly appreciated, since I am inexperienced when it comes to hotel affairs and since I will be amongst total strangers."

I am answering as soon as I can in the column. It is long since I have had any questions about tea etiliave the procedure is the same. You go as soon after the hour named in the linvitation as you choose and stay anywhere from a quarter of an hour or so, as you please. If you are nelloying yourself, you need only say a few words to your head the rooms and make an unobserved exit when you conveniently can. If you are enjoying yourself, take your tea comfortably and stay on. I should say. "I hear we are to give you our best wishes," when introduced to the young fiance. Keep on your gloves until you begin to drink your tea. Wear a nice afternoon street dress, but err on the side of a smart plain costume rather than anything too elaborate. Nothing like an evening dress should be worn to an afternoon teas. (Copyright: 1922.) My guess is your glasses do not suit your eyes. You should wear properly fitted glasses. Your work may need some readjusting. You can judge of that after you have become accustomed to your new glasses.

Pale lips mean poor circulation. They can not be improved by biting and wetting. These are bad habits. Biting may produce a temporary color, and moistening may, for a few minutes, give an appearance of health; but both tend to make the lips coarse and rough. Pale lips are an indication of general body tone that is not what it should be. Proper diet, sunshine and exercise in the open air will do what the lipstick can never do.

Think of your lips as muscles. That is what they really are. Give them a little special exercise, twice or three times each day. You will be astonished at the way they respond. Imagine that you are blowing bubbles; or, better still, invest in an old-fashioned clay pipe and actually blow some bubbles for five minutes or more. When you tire of the bubble-blowing, practice blowing out a candle. Use a real candle, if one is handy. Light it and try blowing it out when it is about 18 inches away. If no candle is at hand, employ your imagination.

For lips that are loose and flabby, I recommend the following exercises: Open the mouth fairly wide, but not so wide that it feels stretched. Keep the laws open and try bowing the wing the lips together, make the attempt fifteen to twenty times. Follow the exercise with a massage, which should be a pinching movement with thumb and fingers. Before exercising the lips, it is advisable to apply cold cream generously. After the exercise, the surplus cream should be wiped away and an astringent applied. Instead of the astringent, a small plece of ice may be rubbed on the lips.

The lipstick has its place. I think nearly every woman needs this artificial color. The clever woman makes a real study of the use of the lipstick. A really good mouth can be utterly spoiled by careless use of color, or an indifferent mouth can be made really attractive.

MANY STOCKS GAIN

Undsteadiness Sets in When Call Rate Advances to Ten Per Cent.

CHRYSLER IS A FEATURE

Special to The Washington Post. New York Oct. 1.—The stock market became unsteady today after an early display of strength, as the call money rate rose to 10 per cent, duplicating the highest of the year established the highest of the year established when the charge went to that figure for about an hour on July 2, last. Thus was the fine balance between the supply of and demand for speculative funds rather startlingly demonstrated, but the stock market, despite the deal of irregularity that developed, once more took the situation fairly calmly Many stocks came down from their early highs, but selected issues, notably Chrysler, made their best levels after the peak in the money rate had been reached. The run-up in the demand rate did not come wholly in the nature of surprise, and accordingly resulted only in arresting speculation in the main and bringing about a moderate late reaction.

The situation was upset by heavy calling of loans by banks necessary to meet checks which went out over the week-end in a total of almost $600,000,000, covering interest and dividend disbursements for the third quarter. Upward of $40,000,000 was withdrawn from the loan table in the course of the day, forcing the rate for new loans up steadily from the renewal figure of 7 per cent.

The action of stocks as a whole made it plain that while forces working for higher prices had been prepared for a tightening of conditions, they had not anticipated such a pinch as developed. Trading volume contracted greatly late in the day and the turnover fell under the 3,400,000 share level. Chrysler an Upward Leader.

Chrysler stood out among the automobile shares with an advance to within ½ of 125, a new top, and held within a minor fraction thereof to finish 4¾ to the good on the session in a turnover of 262,600 shares. In the early dealings General Motors gave promise of a lively contest for the position as it rose, close to the previous record level, but had to be satisfied with a secondary position for the time being at least, as it ran into liberal offerings on the top range and fell back more than 4 points, then recovered a point to finish ¾ net lower. Surength in Chrysler gave rise to an interesting yarn. It is said that current strength in the stock reflects buying by a market operator of more than usual promise, who, after going along with the group working in that stock for a time, suddenly decided to pull out. The story now is that undergoing another change of heart last week he has since been endeavoring to get his stock back.

The turnover in General Motors was 214,600 shares. Hudson Motors yielded 2¼ points net and Hupp lost more than a point.

Selling Falls to Surprise.

Selling that came into the leading mail-order shares following the appearance of their sales figures for September was not at all surprising. Both Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck had admittedly succeeded in discounting generously the spiendid showing of their figures for least month. In each instance the stocks had shown considerable strength on publication of the reports. Montgomery Ward moving up 6 points and Sears Roebuck about a point. The former receded briskly to finish 3 points net lower and the other closed 1½ points under Saturday's final quotation.

Outstanding on the down side was Texas & Pacific, selling 5 points lower on a single transaction involving 300 shares; International Telephone & Telegraph off 33%; Du Pont, down 4; Bayuk Cigars, with a 4½-point drop, and Advance Rumely with a net depreciation of 3½.

Northern Pacific showed the dividend of 1½ per cent deducted at the high level of the day, but reacted 2½ points in the late session and closed 1 point net lower.

United States Steel common was heavily bought and got up to 161½, Just under its record price, only to recede nearly 3 points later before comfog back slightly to quit ¼ net higher.

Foreign Exchange Affected.

After a firm start the foreign exchange market again came under the influence of tight money in the local market and sterling, which opened at 44.84 31-32 for cables, receded to 44.84 15-16.

44.84 31-32 for cables, receded to 44.84 15-16.

At this level shipment of gold to New York from London is profitable if a fast steamer is available for immediate transfer. Today other countries bid prices for gold in London to high for local banks to meet. French frances held firm, as did marks and Scandinavian rates, but there was a sharp break in pesetus aggregating 10 points, due almost wholly to what was described as "long liquidation" in London prior to the local opening. Gullaers receded in sympathy with sterling High money here also put the Canadian dollar on the downturn, the Montreal rate falling to a discount of 1-32, the low level reached last month.

Tight Money Again Restricts Trading; Dodge Debenture 6s Active.

MOST RAILS DRIFT OFF

New York, Oct, 1 (A.P.) .- High monev rates continued to have a restrictive ffect on trading in today's bond market, which moved within narrow and Tregular limits. Distribution of about m of dividend and interest payments is expected, however, to create investment demand for high-grade issues, although the yield basis is low in most cases.

Chief interest in today's market cenered in the heavy trading in Dodge benture 6s, which advanced 5

Howtobuild an INDEPENDENT INCOME

\$10 a Month \$10 invested each month at $6\frac{1}{2}\%_0$ with the interest reinvested at the same rate will accumulate \$4,880.10 in 20 years. In these years you will have invested in cash only \$2,400 and your earned interest will be \$2,480.10 — more than the sum actually invested in cash. Even at forty, if you invest \$50 to \$100 a month, you will be well-to-do by your sixtieth birthday.

61/2% Compounded Semi-Annually

By systematically reinvesting the interest from your first bond, it will help to pay for another. Soon you will have interest on two bonds helping you pay for a third; interest on three bonds helping pay for a fourth, and so on. Can you think of a faster, surer method for the average man or woman to gain financial independence?

Chicagoan's 142 Leads Armour 4 Strokes; Sarazen Third

Hagen Tied for Fourth in Defense of National Crown.

By F. G. VOSBURGH BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Al Espinosa, bubbling over with confidence and hitting his shots as true as a bell, won the qualifying medal in the eleventh national champlonship of the professional golf as-sociation which got under way today. The smiling young pro from the Illinois Country Club, Glencove, Ill., turned in a dazzling 142 over the diffi-cult Five Farms course of the Balti-more Country Club to lead his nearest rival, Tommy Armour, by four strokes in the 36-hole qualitying round.

Low scores were few and 160 was good enough to quality. Before the day was over most of the players and spectators were ready to concede a moral victory to the picturesque and surpassingly difficult course, a comparatively new layout entertaining its first national championship event.

Although 63 of the best pro golfers in the United States were cutting looss with the best in their bags, the fly tracts of former farm land over which CONTINUED ON PAGE 15, COLUMN wersity football players who reported at the Hilltop yesterday to resume training for the Susquehanna game, with the 31-0 victory over Mount St. Mary's last Saturday still fresh in their minds.

The only fire the team was subjected to was a scathing half-hour verbal barrage by Head Coach Lou Little for its misdeeds that vere hidden somewhere in the 31-0 triumph. To some, the team looked good in spots, but to Coach Little it failed to register at any time during the time, which all goes to prove that 31 to 0 victories sometimes mean very little after all.

"They looked green, as if they didn't know what to do." Little declared. To some this may seem pessimistic after a 31-to-0 victory in which the opponents were held without making a first down until the third quarter and held to only two first down the entire game, or may go to prove that the theory of Dr. John Wilce, coach at Ohio, that there is no heart or sportsmanship left in the game as modern day teams now have the efficiency craze.

At batting practice today Bill Sherdel, Jess Haines and Clarence Mitchell all took a turn on the pitching mound. It was conceded that one of the first two would be called on to pitch the opening game, although the Cardinal manager was reticent.

"The news is good and bad." he said. "Ruth and Koenig are much better and will be fit for the series. Combs is in doubt. He may be able to play and he may not. I can't tell now and neither can he.

"As to the pitching. I am sure it will be all right. I don't know who will pitch the opening game."
It was suggested that the reason "Hug" does not know who will pitch the opening is that he is debating between the selection of Waite C. Hoyt. W. Charles Hoyt and Waite Charles Hoyt.

Hornsby, Gehrig, Cy Williams His Chief Rivals in 11 Years.

New York, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Now installed as favorites, the new United States "Big Four" rides into the second and what may be the concluding match of the series with Argentina for the championship of the Americas on Wednesday. Victorious by the close margin of 7 to 6 in the 1st match on Saturday, Tommy Hitchcock and his mates need only to take Wednesday's encounter to capture the championship.

But the South Americans are not downcast over their defeat. Although beaten, the Argentinas were not particularly outplayer by their rivals. They are determined to even the score on Wednesday and carry the series to a third and decisive test next Saturday.

Bottomley, the National League's leading clean-up hitter, has just finished his greatest pennant season. He is just as likely as Ruth or Gehrig to break up a ball game, and so is Hafey, regarded by many critics as the hardest "line hitter" in the senior circuit. Hafey is not so colorful as the Babe, Lou or Jim, but he clouts 'em far and often.

series mirror showed the fans he had not lost his seven game: and only 242 for the Yankees.

It is an odd circumstance that the hitting pace-secters of both clubs in 1926, Earle Combs and Tommy Thevenow, are slated to spend most, if not all of their time on the sidelines this year. Thevenow has failed to reach his 1926 form since recovering from a broken leg while Combs has a wrist injury that will handicap him if it does not keep his out of action altogether.

This year, although the Yankees have a margin on the attack, as exhibited by the respective team marks of 295 and 282 for the season, the actual difference is not so conspicuous. There is perhaps a more sustained threat right down the batting order of the Yankees, even with some reserves in the line-up, than the Cardinals boast. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 (A.P.).—Leo Goodreau, 19-year-old sophomore quarter back of the Villanova Football Eleven, today hovered between life and death in a hospital where he has been confined since Friday with a broken neck. Physicians say that he can not recover.

Goodreau, whose home is in Havernill, Mass., had been developed into a star quarter back under the tutelage of Coach Harry Stuhldreher, one of Notre Dame's famed horsemen. Friday, during a practice scrimmage, he was buried under the crush of a driving play and carried from the field unconscious. An examination by physicians revealed that his neck was broken.

"He may live an hour, a day or pos-

Both clubs, however, possess the punch. Either is apt to break loose with a big cluster of runs at any time the attack gathers headway.

At one time or another this season, injuries and illness have reduced much of the Yankee power at bat but it has a habit of being turned on in full force when needed most. Ruth, after a projunged slump and a bad knee, shows signs of recovering his form for the main battle.

for the main battle.

Gehrig is a much more consistent slugger than he was two years ago. So is Mark Koenig, but Combs. Tony Lazzeri, another semicasualty, and Joe Dugan, nearing the end of his brilliant career, will be questionable factors.

Except for Hafey and Bottomley, the Cardinal offensive is somewhat erratic and difficult to figure. Douthit has improved and his speed counts on the bases but his long suit is defense George Harper wields a dangerous bat upon occasion. Frankle Frisch, who shares with Ruth the distinction of having batted 300 or better in four world's series conflicts, must snap out of a bad slump if he is to add to this record.

Britton, at 43, Cheered,

In Victory at Boston Two year; ago the Cardinals, as a club, not only outplayed and outpliched the Yankees, but outhit the New Yorkers by a 30-point margin. The series marks showed a team batting average of 272 for the Cardinals in seven game; and only 242 for the Yankees. It is an odd circumstance that the testing pace-setters of both clubs in They. Boston Arena, Boston, Oct. 1 (A.P.) Boston boxing fans gave Jack Britton former world welterweight champion.

Sankers Association. Some two-score District bankers are attending the seasons.

Representative McFadden, in a prepared address released for publication here last night, told the clearing house section of the association that such a tap may become necessary, owing to the important part which the investment of independent money in brokers loans occupies in connection with our general credit system, and in order to permit the Federal Reserve Board to permit the Federal Reserve Board to use of credit.

Holding the Federal Reserve system the "most potential influence in the wisdom of its past decisions. Much of the current criticism of the board has been ill founded and due to lack or correct information as to the purposes to be served by the changed policy of the system, he said adding that the board's present usefulness might be destroyed if the public were apprised in advance of its contemplated action.

Apparent efforts of the Pederal Reserve Board to restrict the speculative position have proven unsuccessful, he said. He urged centralized control, and auggested that if all the banking in deal in credit were sunder the authority of the Federal Covernment, the task of eatablishing a necessary standard of practice in the proper the of credit might be simplified.

This company is one of the prominent makers of medium priced automobiles and it also makes motors and bodies for a portion of its cars.

The line of new cars introduced underson. When the exchange opened last April memberships were offered at $2,500.

women. Many of the women banks are delegates to the American Bankers Association meeting. Miss Jane Arnot Reid, of New York, who is serving her second term as president of the Association of Bank Women, will preside at the opening session of that organization late today. She entered the banking field after the World War and prior to that time had won distinction as a portrait painter of ministures.

Visiting bankers were almost unantimous in expressing the view that the general business outlook in the country was good.

An equitable tax system for banks must be worked out, else they may be forced to cease operations, Charles H. Mylander, secretary of the Ohio Banks with quasi-banks, the latter to the secondary. He predicted that the task would be difficult and involve changes in laws, constitutions, methods and means of assessment of various kinds.

Mr. Mylander compared the taxation of banks with quasi-banks, the latter being competing financial institutions which, in many States, he said, enjoy most of the privileges of banks, but the state of the privileges of

MOTOR CRASH INTERRUPTS POLICEMAN'S GOLF GAME

This automobile and the smashup which put it in the condition shown above, formed a serious interruption to Park Policeman Oren Spears' golf game on the West Potomac Park Course yesterday and caused the booking for investigation at the Third Precinct of Frank J. O'Neill, of 411 Eleventh street southwest. While Spears was playing golf the car drove by, struck a tree and upset near the Lincoln Memorial. One of the autoists dug out from under and left. O'Neill was less fortunate. He was extricated by Spears and carried to the Third Precinct Station

Without attempting to throw the blame for the upholding of inefficient police on Congress or anyone else, police officials are prepared to offer the pressure of influence as one of the big evils of the department should there be an attack on the department in Congress at the forthcoming session. INDICTED IN DISTRICT

His Campaign Expenses. Charges Assert.

Thomas A. Marquam, who was defeated in his campaign for election as delegate from Alaska to the House of Representatives in November, 1926, was indicted on a charge of violating the Federal Corrupt Practices act by the grand jury yesterday in connection with his campaign. The indictment was the first of its kind ever reported in the District. The corrupt practices act specifies that a candidate for public office must make an accounting of his campaign expenditures to the United States Senate within ten days after the elec-

Frank Daly, a plumber, of 638 G street northwest, was named defendant in a third damage suit filed yesterday in the District Supreme Court, which charged him with negligence in reloc ting a gas stove at 630 B street southwest. The suit asked for $10,000 and was instituted by Zennie V. Mullin, who also has filed suit for $5,000 damages.

The other suit was instituted by Clarence M. Coley, who asked $10,000 damages. All charged they were injured as a result of the alleged negligence. A month ago, after the stove been relocated by Daly, it is charged, Mullin, his daughter and Cooley entered the room where the work was done. Cooley, it is said, struck a match and an explosion re-

REFUSED DATA, HE SAYS

Reinstatement in the District Naional Guard was petitioned of the District Suprem Court yesterday in a suit filed by Lieut. Col. Harry E. Gladman filed by Lieut. Col. Harry E. Gladman and directed against Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, Maj. Gen. Creel C. Hammond, chief of the militia bureau;
Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, commander of the local guard, and Frederic H.

of the local guard, and Frederic H. Smith, U. S. A., adjutant general of the militia.

Col. Gladman complained that he received notice from Gen. Hammond August 14 that the records of the militia bureau had been amended to show that by direction of Secretary of War Davis his status as lieutenant colonel in the 121st Regiment of the local guard had been terminated. On August 26, he declared, an honorable discharge issued by Gen. Stephan was received by him. This, he declared, was done in accordance with the act of Congress organizing the local guard. But the section of the act under which the discharge was issued, he complained, provides that whenever an officer of the militia, in the opinion of the commanding officer, has become incapilation.
